

IN HIS TROOPERS SEE ROOSEVELT WELL!

Rough Riders Made Their Colonel, for Once, Beat Hasty Retreat.

MOBBED AT HOFFMAN HOUSE.

Men Tried to Climb Over One Another in Their Anxiety to Greet Commander.

HAD TO WAVE HIS FAREWELLS.

Cavalrymen, Getting Tired of Being Treated and Fed, Are Fast Leaving the City.

The Rough Riders who are making their headquarters at the Hoffman House, and who are having all the fun that this big city affords, saw Col. Roosevelt for two or three times yesterday afternoon.

When the Colonel left the Fifth Avenue Hotel he was followed by a crowd of more people before he had gone half a block. In a pearl-gray felt hat with a low crown and a broad brim, and with a face that is bronzed by the sun, Col. Roosevelt looked every inch a soldier.

Looking in and out among the crowd, the Colonel succeeded in reaching the Hoffman House door. The crowd was calling out his name. The Rough Riders in the cafe and corridor heard it. They caught sight of their leader as he entered the door.

When the Colonel left the Fifth Avenue Hotel he told his cab-driver to move up to the Hoffman House, and started to walk there himself. A crowd followed him that increased as he reached the Fifth Avenue Hotel having a little talk with Senator Platt and a few other friends about being made Governor of this State.
